Cost Estimate for Egg Donation

Hatch Fertility Egg Donation

- The Egg Donor Fee: This fee varies depending on the donor that you choose. First time donors are $10,000 and up. Our experienced Egg Donor's fees increase with each donation.
- Travel Funds and Escrow: These fees vary depending on the donor that you choose, if the donor is flying, the travel costs anywhere from $5,000 to $8,000. International travel expenses is estimated at $10,000 to $13,000. If you select a donor that is local to your doctor's office, the travel would be less depending on gas mileage, parking at the doctor's office, or hotel accommodations if needed the night before the retrieval. To ensure all donor travel expenses are fully covered throughout the cycle, Intended Parents will be asked to fund the highest estimated travel amount in advance. These funds will be held in escrow along with the Donor's compensation. This allows us to ensure that all travel arrangements can be made as needed and that the travel agency is paid in full once the cycle is complete.
- Monitoring Deposit: This deposit is collected if the donor is not local to your doctor's office and needs to be set up with a monitoring facility. This ranges from $1,500-$2,000.
- Medical Fees: Hatch is not responsible for cycle medical fees. Please note that if after first medical screening it is decided that cycle should not go forward through no fault of her own, a compensation of $200 will be paid to the donor.
